

Swarm of Flies

Provoker

Look of fright in their eyes
Swarm of flies fill the air
Let it slip through my arms
Made you sick, oh I can't watch

Innocence showing late in life
In a sense, you made change in mine

I burn everyone I meet
I kill everything I love
I'm so miserable, at least I know
You won't break my heart
I scream as loud as I can
I scare everyone around
At least with all that I am, I know
You won't break my heart

Big in fight, small inside
Save my sight from despair
Let it rip through my heart
Made me do what I could not

Innocence showing late in life
In a sense, you made change in mine

I burn everyone I meet
I kill everything I love
I'm so miserable, at least I know
You won't break my heart
I scream as loud as I can
I scare everyone around
At least with all that I am, I know
You won't break my heart

I find comfort in choosing my route to misery
Such that I know what to expect
And for what is missed in abundance
Only makes way for certainty

I burn everyone I meet
I kill everything I love
I'm so miserable, at least I know
You won't break my heart
I scream as loud as I can
I scare everyone around
At least with all that I am, I know
You won't break my heart