

This Time

Puggy

They say you look the same your eyes and ears are what he gave your father never knew your name and that's how it is

You'd always want to leave find the forest for the trees your mother never would agree
and that's how it is

So you learn, learn, learn to never fall apart
they lied to you because they could
and you burn, burn, burn you course them up above and only just because you should

This time
ooh this time
ooh this time
this time

This time, was never a place you'd want to be this time, empty houses, empty woods, forgotten streets this time, had always meant so much more to me
this time

Everything you see distorted, changed and made to be shades you never could believe
and that's how it is

So you learn, learn, learn
to never fall apart
they lied to you because they could
and you burn, burn, burn
you course them up above
and only just because you should

This time, was never a place you'd want to be
this time, empty houses, empty woods, forgotten streets
this time, had always meant so much more to me
this time

This time, you thought that anything could change this time, your mind your heart and most of all your face this time, would always bring back to you this place this time...