

To Win The World

Puggy

Are you really looking for money
Just to get you through
You really should be looking for love babe
Loving is good for you
There is in you so much fire
Burning deep in your soul
You've got what you need
You've got what you need
You've got what you need babe

You just won the world
Hey, is the world enough for you?
You just won the world
Hey, with everything in it too
You just won the world
Hey, but you don't know what it is
You just won the world
Hey, you just won the world

You and me we're fighting for something
Something greater than us bouth
We need not knock on wood to start fires
Warmer is the heart and soul
Can you win it without liars
Stick with you, through and through
'Cause you got what you need
You got what you need
You got what you need babe

You just won the world
Hey, is the world enough for you?
You just won the world
Hey, with everything in it too
You just won the world
Hey, but you don't know what it is
You just won the world
Hey, you just won the world

There is in you so much fire
Burning deep in your soul
You've got what you need
You've got what you need
You've got what you need

You just won the world
Hey, is the world enough for you?
You just won the world
Hey, with everything in it too
You just won the world
Hey, but you don't know what it is
You just won the world
