

You Are

Puggy

You were just a thought and must have had a reason something in your heart was beating like an anthem

We were just kids
live and let live
and you're what saved me
we were just kids
live and let live

Now it's all been broken with eyes wide open you know something I don't

You know who you are and who we were back when we were the same everything we thought we knew and nothing mattered anyway why does it matter what we say does it matter if we stay if we only matter to ourselves than we can think of who we are and how do we start
you know who you are

We were lost for time and made some out of demons somewhere in our mind we kept them all from healing

We were just kids
live and let live
and you're what saved me
we were just kids
live and let live

Now it's all been broken
with eyes wide open
you know something I don't

Now it's all been broken
with eyes wide open
you know something I don't

You know who you are
and who we were back when we were the same
everything we thought we knew
and nothing mattered anyway
why does it matter what we say
does it matter if we stay
if we only matter to ourselves
than we can think of who we are
and how do we start
you know who you are

Well, it's all been broken
with eyes wide open

you know something I don't
You know who you are

Well, it's all been broken
with eyes wide open
you know something I don't
You know who you are