

The Never Ending

Pulley

Anytime when the lights go down
I keep hiding from you someone
Gotta tun I try to find my place that's here
I gotta figure out
A little more so I can stay
Feeding from that fire that you've left inside

And I've had my fears
You're about to say

When everything turns gray
and outside it's another day for me and you
A battle we can only lose
I'll try and find a way
Where I can make some change
I'll make a change with something anywhere

The ice it melts right through my hands and I'm freezing through my fingers
Try to feel I'm going numb and I'm slowing down
I gotta figure out
A little more so I can stay
What it is and what it should be
Did we go wrong?

And I've had my fears
You're about to say

When everything turns gray
and outside it's another day for me and you
A battle we can only lose
I'll try and find a way
Where I can make some change
I'll make a change with something anywhere

In a shot of sun
And I think of you
From far away
With no more pause than a sigh
Stop and think of you
I hope you'll think of me

Now that we've hammered the last spike
We've punched through with more to say
Wanted what it took a lifetime to give Don't talk in whispers anymore
Grown more fearful from the source
And I know it's not the end of the world
End of the world

Of course

When everything turns gray
and outside it's another day for me and you
A battle we can only lose
I'll try and find a way
Where I can make some change

I'll make a change with something anywhere
