

Two Winds

Pulley

Did you ever imagine that we'd be here again
Where we've wanted to and don't say I'm wrong
The lights shine down as bright as they want to be Nothing gets to me, been at this too long

That's right
Wait and don't say

You've made any promises
Decisions that just fade
It's only beginning to play out
As silence turns to rage

And then there's the questions asked, can't remember them
You'll make sure of it, it's easy on me
All night we've watched the stars from so long ago
Did we even feel, this last fatal blow

Who knows
Wait and don't say

You've made any promises
Decisions that just fade
It's only beginning to play out
As silence turns to rage
Still counting on followers
Finding someone who belongs
We've walked through the dark together
It's somehow turned out wrong
Turned out so wrong
