

Walk Away

Pulley

I'm forbidden, I'm less driven
Lost in this world where we're constantly giving
Tied down by morals and don't even try
Something more that's missing you will find me some reasons
You'll think you'll need alibis
I can see it in your eyes the way you talk to me

So walk away, before I say what's on my mind
And I know you won't like it
Why don't you walk away before I say what's really on my mind

No direction - no conception
Plans without meaning, you're constantly dreaming
Wearing on me and I don't even try
Something more that's missing you will find me some reasons
You'll think you'll need alibis
I can see it in your eyes the way you talk to me

So walk away, before I say what's on my mind
And I know you won't like it
Why don't you walk away before I say what's really on my mind

We're gonna play what we want to
No need to stand in the way
I never really thought of asking you
Like It would matter anyway

Did you... hear me... standing at your door...
I don't wanna have to choose
Another mindful thought before me
I guess it shows I've lost my intelligence
I didn't think it would be like this

So walk away, before I say what's on my mind
And I know you won't like it
Why don't you walk away before I say what's really on my mind

So walk away
So walk away
So walk away before I say what's on my mind
