Puma Blue

I awoke early this morning only to find
No space in my heart, even less in my mind
The smell on the ground outside just seemed to scream
Of everywhere we'd been
Everything that we'd seen

Here in the snow
Where I first
Let you go
It plagues my heart
How it all
Fell apart

I always thought
We would be
Tapestry
Together entwined
Now this dream
It has died

Every instance I mistook your shape asleep
It's like I'm stumbling out of myself, and into a scene
There's a plummeting weight that I can hardly explain
It's more than I can take
More than I can contain

Here in the snow
Where I first
Let you go
It plagues my heart
How it all
Fell apart

I always thought
We would be
Tapestry
Together entwined
Now this dream
It has died
