

Another Tale Of Remember When

Punchline

No I can't take another tale of remember when I think I know this one but then you tell me again
You're throwing off the details that ain't how it happened
From newer beginnings, we'd agree on the ends

All this time I spent just trying to chill myself out
I'm cooler than a calendar content all around
I used to be ambitious, now I go with the flow
But I'm starting to think I don't like where it's going

I need to disconnect
I need to reset
I need to empty my head
And only let back in the sounds of orchestras and laughter

'Cause I've always got this conversation going in my head
Like hey you gotta do this, and hey don't forget
I'm starting to see that it's a complete other thing
What happened to us brain? We used to be a team

I told myself I wouldn't ever do this again
But hey I got this outlet, so I'm plugging it in
I wanna feel the heat flowing from deep within me
And go out to the forest, scream at the trees

I need to disconnect
I need to reset
I need to empty my head
And let go of the part of me that thinks that it knows anything

How many days on this earth have you been here so far?
If you didn't know your age, how old would you think you are?
All these cycles of time. I wanna tear the wheels off
Unraveled over a life. Delete the days and the months
'Cause every time it comes around you get this thing where
You tell yourself you're gonna make it different this year

I don't know why
I don't take my own advice
Reminds me of this one time when
And then the cycle begins

La da da da da da da da
La da da da da da dada dada
La da da da da da da da
Oh oh

There's isn't a point, that's all that I've seen
Just talk to some people and look at some things
Everyone is acting, and some are so good
But just because they're faking doesn't mean you should

Oh

So I try not to think I don't like where it's going
Yeah
Yeah

(Let's do one more)