

I Will Wait

Punchline

No, you don't fool me
With your dandelion eyes
Come on, give it to me
Now I realize, oh my
I thought it sounded foolish
It's always been around
But I can't help but write this
And put it to sound, out loud

I had you, then I lost you
Then I had you again
I didn't know what to make
Of all of our friends
I didn't want to say it
Because it's never the time
But I know your heart
And your mind can't lie

I will wait as long as it takes for you
Wherever you are, wherever you
I will wait as long as it takes for you

No, you don't fool me
With your dandelion eyes
Come on, give it to me
Now I realize, oh my
I thought it sounded foolish
It's always been around
Still, I can't help but write this
And put it to sound, out loud

I'll never love another
Because it couldn't be real
I want to ask you to come over
And just see how it feels
It's not about the past
Or the day that it died
But I know your heart
And your mind can't Mind can't

I will wait as long as it takes for you
Wherever you are, wherever you
I will wait as long as it takes for you
For you

And I can feel you every time you cross the county line
And even though I only saw you on those couple of times
Do you realize how we talk about 2009
You just know when it's right
And I know that it's right

I will wait as long as it takes for you
Wherever you are, wherever you
I will wait as long as it takes for you

I will wait as long as it takes for you

Wherever you are
For you

I will wait as long as it takes
As long as it takes
As long as it takes

I will wait
I will wait as long as it takes

As long as it takes
I will wait

No, you don't fool me
