

My Turn

Punchline

You stop me with your brown eyes, I just don't know what to do.

I should just face the facts- I have a crush on you. I wanna take you away, find the right things to say and make you feel the same- and make you scream my name. But I don't have a clue of just what to do. Could you please help me out. I wanna make you shout. But you will never know to what lengths I'll go for me to make you mine; I have all these feelings inside. You and I should get away to our special place. I don't want to talk on the phone anymore. I wanna see your face. Rachel, this is the last time. I want to give you chills, the kind that I feel. I think the world can see that you were meant for me. There's nothing I won't do to be right next to you. I want to hold your hand and make you understand