

Wait

Punchline

Wait... I said, underneath my breath as she turned away from me
.

Never did I see the look in her eye because her back was turned to me.

Maybe if I had seen a tear drop in her eyes I would have stoppe d I swear I would;

But I kept pushing her to love me but I didn't know that I was only pushing her away from me.

Maybe if I hadn't chased her to the door,
Then maybe she would have come back for more.
All that I can say is if only,
Maybe if I quit say maybe all the time
Then you'd be back and you'd be mine.

Now I'm lost. I've been down this path before, but it hasn't be en a while.

I sit here and just think, about my life and how I never seem t o win.

Constantly not smiling because of a stupid girl, who I only wan t because she doesn't want me.

Isn't it funny how life always works out, works out when you'd least expect it to.

Did you know I hate your honesty.
Did you know I hate the games you play.
Maybe if I sit here for a while,
Then maybe I'd have you in my arms again,
Then you'd be back and we'd be more than friends.