

All of the water seeped up
Carrying sickness crept up
While you were sleeping, sleeping
You woke in a sea of dark liquid

Tell me a story
How time will pass how sorrow slid
Down the hands that held you
Into the truth you know we hid
And we hid
Into the truth you know we hid
(Into the truth you know we hid)

The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning
The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning

Now may your breath bring autumn
And may your health beseech the spring
Now may you rest a long one
For in your death will heaven bring

Tell me a story
How time will pass how sorrow slid
Down the hands that held you
Into the truth you know we hid
And we hid
Into the truth you know we hid
(Into the truth you know)

The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning
The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning
The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning
The sound of longing
Pouring out your mouth, we're drowning

Run until the tears run dry
Til you cannot breathe
O'er the hills where I
Too someday will leave
