

Meet me where the hours bend
I'll do it again, let's do it again
Spinning like a neverend
Just do it again, now do it again
Tell me where the daylight went
I'll do it again, I'll do it again
Blowing through me like the wind

From the last town
To the sundown at the corner
How my eyes bend
With the light, I feel the harbor
You sailed away on a sunken boat
How I cried when I tasted the liquid gold
Washing it down with the words you spoke
Washing me down, you were washing me down

Meet me where the hours bend
I'll do it again, let's do it again
Spinning like a neverend
Just do it again, now do it again
Tell me where the daylight went
I'll do it again, I'll do it again
Blowing through me like the wind

The city's fucked but
How'd you know 'bout the side road?
Nobody's left here
We cruised down to the seafoam
Sand soaked tonight, never heard you swear
Strange winds are blowing through your hair
The fabric that takes you up and out of here
'Cause you want nothing to do with it
Up and out, up and out of here

Meet me where the hours bend
I'll do it again, let's do it again
Spinning like a neverend
Just do it again, now do it again
Tell me where the daylight went
I'll do it again, I'll do it again
Blowing through me like the wind

Do it again, I'll do it again
Do it again, I'll do it all again
Do it again, I'll do it again
Do it again, I'll do it all again
Do it again, I'll do it again
Do it—

Under old fluorescent light
You became the night
So dark, so dark
Inside, as the moonless sky
Under old fluorescent light
You became the night
So dark, so dark

Inside, as the moonless sky
Under old fluorescent light
You became the night
So dark, so dark
Inside, as the moonless sky

After all the crimson tide, going out
So dark, so dark inside, coming down
After all the crimson tide going out
So dark, so dark inside, coming down
After all the crimson tide going out
So dark, so dark inside, coming down
