

pink lightning

Purity Ring

I would that the world become you give it time
Blooming like the shadows upon you I drowned beside
Floating on the water to show me your softer side
While everything is spinning beneath 'til it falls like glass
Just give it time
Now close your eyes

I would that the world become you give it time
Blooming like the shadows upon you I drowned beside
Floating on the water to show me your softer side
While everything is spinning beneath 'til it falls like glass
Just give it time
The sands will pass

Heavy are the winds from the east they have come to see
Fallen like hundred year old trees missed your body
Watching as I comb through the pieces on the beach
Patient as I bury my wrath under pink lightning
I bear to breathe
The smoke will fall
O cease me

Warm water rises
It still feels like I can't stop crying
Hold me inside it
Still feels like the storm's not dying
And all that was undone
Was done when we were young
I'm not sure how it feels quite
(I'm not sure how it feels quite)

Everything is spinning beneath 'til it falls like glass
Just give it time
Now close your eyes

Heavy as the weight in my chest o this seldom dread
Lying in the dark with a wake curled over my head
In all my blood I'd rather be found o my recklessness
Thunder o the fury of peace
I rest between the echoing
Disquietly
O cease me

Warm water rises
It still feels like I can't stop crying
Hold me inside it
Still feels like the storm's not dying
And all was that undone
Was done when we were young
I'm not sure how it feels quite
(I'm not sure how it feels quite)

Still feels like I can't stop crying
Still feels like a storm not dying
It feels like I can't stop