Purity Ring

Bright like a star
Loud like I want it
Can't hear, got my own world locked in
I don't really wanna live for the what if That's life
Gotta change with the seasons
Selective memory is all that all that peace is

Tell me, tell me please
Cuz I really need to know
And I would die for you to see me anywhere I'll go
Tell me, tell me please
Cuz I really need to know
And I would die for you to see me anywhere I'll go

How it shines like a falling star
How it shines like a falling star
How it shines like a falling star

I really hope we can figure something out
There's all these things that I like to think about
And other things I don't like to think about
I just tend to think out loud
That's just why my shit is loud

I really hope we can figure something out
There's all these things that I like to think about
And other things I don't like to think about
I just tend to think out loud
That's just why my shit is loud

Shadows coming up from behind me
The sun is in my eyes
And I'm lifting
Didn't wanna know but it happened
Floating in the sweat they would drown in

Tell me, tell me please
(O my blurred out feelings slip through my fingers)
Something you foresee
(O it's all about me the moon is my mirror)
Everything that's been o
(The doll-like image that it hangs over)
Raining down in me o
(I just wanna be best frineds forever)

How it shines like a falling star
How it shines like a falling star
How it shines like a falling star
How it shines like a falling star

Somewhere far away there's the life we wanted
Out of reach for awhile, it's alright we got it
You and me, all our dreams ya we almost lost them
That's alright
It's just how it goes sometimes
It's always there

I've been scared of the worst that happened
I'll try to cry and not pretend that I was only laughing

All the life the we've lived
And the life we haven't
Shines like a falling star

All the life the we've lived
And the life we haven't
Shines like a falling star
