

Everything's Ended

Quidam

Waiting for the last moment

I drink in memories like fresh air

Have I said everything?

I had a lot of opportunities

What`s the aim of being so high?

Mother, fear`s in your eyes

I needed money – forgive me father

Now I can`t sleep

Chorus: I`m so tired and for sure I know that everything has ended

Shadows were fighting, the entire world was spinning around

I struck in the rhythm of the street

He slumped slowly

I didn`t care

Chorus: Waiting for the sun, waiting for the last time. I regret that I can`t embrace you

I see that! Angels are flying over my head!!

I didn`t see the light

As you did

Always different

I had to try

They asked too many questions when I was drifting away

They asked too many questions so I gave up again

You balance on the line

Be carefull artist

The Ice is thin

The Water is warm
