

End Of Days

Ra

The sun goes down and once again you close your eyes to go to sleep.

So far of just your hopes run high.
You start to dream in black and grey,
You start to speak but know not what you say
Your stars begin to fall out from the sky.

And so you try to turn and run
The fear in your heart makes you understand that time's running out
He's had enough there's no reason, to say your prayers

I don't wanna live in a prison, I don't wanna die in vain.
This will be the last inquisition, all will be enslaved at the end of days.

Defeat of all within one mind
The force of will is only sword
The battle fought within his mind
A wild surge, a primal urge, a tempting voice of anarchy
He's unaware of who he finds

And so he tries to turn and run
The fear in his heart makes him understand time's running out
He's had enough there's no reasons to say your prayers

I don't wanna live in a prison, I don't wanna die in vain.
This will be the last inquisition, all will be enslaved at the end of days.

The sky turns red as blood
Stars fall from the sky
Children run and they try to hide but there's no where to go so we're all gonna DIE!

The battle's won
The battle's lost
Blood runs across his hands
He kneels and slowly bows his head

And so we try to turn and run
The fear in our heart makes us understand time's running out
He's had enough and there's no reason to say your prayers

I don't wanna live in a prison, I don't wanna die in vain.
This will be the last inquisition, all will be enslaved at the end of...

I don't wanna live in a prison, I don't wanna die in vain.
This will be the last inquisition, all will be enslaved at the end of days.
