We tried
We tried to let it be
To let you think for yourselves
But you don't even want to
You give up your hope and your freedom so willingly
Just for the thrill of the blame
Wasting your lives in constant fear and hate
Searching for meaning in anything and everything that numbs you r soul
Well, we will take what you don't deserve
We will take it and hide it
Where you'll never be able to find it again
So we can finally have a world that is truly
Intercorrupted
