

Nickel For Goodbye

Racoon

I almost went to your house
Heard something about
A way to forget about things
But the newspaper said
There's bad weather ahead
So I kept on staying in bed
And it broke the day
It sure broke the day

And the neon commercials
They were screaming and saying
"You should get up, 'cause you got shit to do"
Meanwhile people all dress up and do what they do
It doesn't mean that I have to

Just give me a nickel for "I'm sorry"
And a nickel for my pride
Give me a nickel for the things I've wrong in my life
Give me a nickel for friendship
And a nickel for the fights
Give me a nickel for that low
Give me a nickel for goodbye

Some fools remember all that they say
And forget about all that they hear
Well, I don't wanna be that fool that goes blind through the day
I wanna hear what I need to hear
Just don't break my heart
Just don't break my heart

And good friends remember good times that they got
And bury the bad ones for later
A few words of wisdom I gladly forgot
'Cause mistakes I've been making for ages

They don't give a nickel for "I'm sorry"
And no nickel for what's right
No nickel for the things I've done wrong in my life
No nickel for friendship
And two shits about the fight
No nickel for that low
Only a nickel for goodbye
Just a nickel for goodbye

And the drink, it was fading, it felt so frustrating
So I went to your house
Though they warned me, they said there was trouble ahead
Still I went to that house

Just to get a nickel for "I'm sorry"
And a nickel for my pride
A nickel for the things I've done wrong in my life
To get a nickel for friendship
And a nickel for the fights
To get a nickel for that low
Maybe a nickel for goodbye
Give me a nickel for goodbye

Good-goodbye
