

Soon

Racoon

Set the world on fire
There's no time for regret
No remorse or lies

No you best keep your head to down the rail a minute
You keep it down, just for a minute

The danger zone
Where it's too hot to hold on
And too cool to let go
Soon as you let it freeze right down onto your soul
As soon as you lose yourself, you'll turn into something else
Fight it

You know change is coming soon
I'll be ready for something new
Soon
I'll be ready for something new to go my way

And when your day and night, go from night into day
Like the tide rolling by
Rolling in and away, oh everyday
But you miss the beauty of it all you see

Well craving is fine
And having is more
Waiting is misunderstood for sure, for sure
As soon as we lose ourselves, we'll turn into something else
Fight it

But change is coming soon
I'll be ready for something new
And soon
I'll be ready for something new to go my way

All my life I've been meaning to fight
I've been taking what's theirs and claiming it's mine
All this life I've been waiting for the bite

And soon, I'll be ready for something new
And soon, I'll be ready for something new to go my way
And soon, I'll be ready for something new
And soon, I'll be ready for something new to go