

Trusted

Racoon

I will be bound to the ones bound to me
I should be bound to the love that's given for free
There should be times for the ones that give you everything
And they should be trusted
There should be interplay halfway, what we give and we take
Too much to ask really means my life is at stake
There should be lust, you never lose foundation of trust
Said, "Cheers to love and to us"

And here is to the trusted
Three cheers to the trusted
To the broken and busted
We should be trusted

To be your hero, you're the best version of you
'Cause no one else can do the things that you do
How you care and you share life with heartache and pain
Bringing laughter and joy, nobody to blame

So I trust you
Oh, even broken and busted
Because there is no room in my life
Not for people that cannot be trusted

Take it or leave it, my coat, no knife to your throat
Make up your mind, my friend, you should already know
I can be trusted, I still can be trusted
Even broken and busted, like you should be trusted
