

Sometimes I think of stupid things
Stupidest thing that you can think
How much will you be thinking of me? While I'm wasting Almost everything of my life

I know that it's so weird to ask you
To be more like me and not you
The reason that I loved you is cuz you were so far from
Who I was those days

Is it us who made it difficult?
But it was us who made it possible
A thousand words will never make things simple or clear
So why don't we hold hands
If ever we meet again

People ask for purpose of life
Instead I ask for a life without one
I wish for life away from
Your skin your lips your attention
That is too stucked in my mind

Is it us who made it difficult?
But it was us who made it possible
A thousand words will never make things simple or clear
So why don't we hold hands
If ever we meet again

Sometimes I think of stupid things
Stupidest thing that you can think
Hurry just to finish this life and just vanish
To meet you at the next
Tell me which ride should I get
