Even though you can only see you from the inside
Why is it I can only see you from the outside?
Even though you definitely don't ever want us to break up
Why is it that I could break up with you and not be bothered?

Even though I can tell a lie and you definitely won't notice
Why is it that I immediately know when you lie?
Even though you try to smile even when you're sad
Why is it that you shed tears when you're happy?

They shone when you looked up at me, they shone
Before my eyes, they fell down it was like it was you are

Like a rainbow in the sky at midnight
Like stars shining at noon
Like snow falling in summer
It was it was new

Like seeing a polar bear in the desert
Like seeing the aurora borealis in the city
Like seeing life on mars
Because it was it was because it was beautiful

Even though I can't communicate without using my voice
Who is this person you can talk to without using your mouth?
Even though you had already met them at birth
Why is it that I just met them?

I don't think that we will separate until death, but Why is it that I don't know whether or not we might separate?
However, why is it that I can think that even that would be okay?
And if that's the case, then why is it that we even met?

That's right we did meet we met back then
You became my everything it was it was like it was you were

Like spring coming next after summer
Like morning coming next after noon
Like cherries growing on a pear tree
You appeared in front of me

Like rain falling above the clouds
Like scales falling from my eyes
I started to feel like any of these things
Could now happen easily

You said that you've come to hate that person
You can't be near them you want them to disappear
I don't know what that person is like on the inside, but
If it's seeing from the outside, I know them well

Giving an answer when only knowing half
Is somewhat very extremely too much of a waste
Listen to what I, who has always been watching from the outside, has to say
I who have been closest, watching you are it was you are

Like a rainbow in the sky at midnight
Like stars shining at noon
Like snow falling in summer
It was it was new
