Before we notice it our heads become wise
And though with this we pass through distress it only brings us greater pain and

When a mosquito bites it stings with all its strength
If it hurts maybe it's fine to crush it right away

Although doing that will surely hurt you

So that being said, the kind of pain and such that exceed this is When no matter how much you keep looking for it somehow, you never find it

On the contrary instead you notice how deep this pain really goes
The sorrow and such you've felt until now pass the limits of being thought o f fondly

Although someone only becomes aware of it and musters their strength

Soon the crying voice is erased from the world
But because I hold the microphone I'd like you to be there

I'll push it against your chest and turn the volume to its maximum Though it howls it's not a problem now this sound becomes your voice

Your fastening heartbeats make up the tempo
If this is how we do it we'll make sorrow and all those things our allies

But if sorrow turns to look back at us
We'd be ready to fling up the fist of blasting voice

Maybe your feet are broken if you can't feel their pain
And without understanding it you'd keep on walking

If you wish to notice the that you were wounded you'd find that the pain
Was there to protect you all along

And in this case there isn't anything for you to be afraid of

Soon the running out dreams will be crushed in this world
But because I hold the amplifier you grasp your heart

So I insert the cable to that plug and raise the gain with all my might Though it becomes distorted it's not a problem we're making voiceless voice become hearable

Your heartbeats grow steadily guiding us to the final song
And though we were running it's not a problem now all of it becomes your son g

Covering this perfectly round earth with guest seats the stage is now all yo urs
And there you can strum that sound while the ringing sound of hands clapping never stops

You look over the vast guest seating and quickly turn your attention to the back
And there, clapping at the very back once the earth turned you saw yourself
