The yesterdays who cannot return really, thank you. it's so lonely
The tomorrows whom I have yet to see go now please take care of me
I'm so happy

The wishes who cannot come true really, I'm sorry Someday, definitely
The feelings whom have come true thank you, from now on, we'll be together

Light heartbeats every time they quiver my thoughts would be: I'll protect y ou

The fact that I'm blessed now is called the fact that I'm living now
Even though I'm not smiling the fact that I'm living now, in its entirety
Is a blessing

The lives whom cannot meet for your part, I too will do my best
The promises whom have been exchanged don't let go, don't forget let's make a promise

Will people of this world speak like this one day: "I will not desire any mo re things"
Take small dreams, once and once again, paint them and throw them away
In truth, nothing else is desired already

The fact that I'm blessed now is called the fact that I'm living now Even though tears are floating in my eyes now the fact that I'm living now, in its entirety
Is a blessing

The lives who are overflowing living I'm here I'm so happy
The lives who have disappeared someday I will pass away too until that day

The fact that I'm blessed now is called the fact that I'm living now

The fact that I'm blessed now is called the fact that I'm living now
Even though I'm not smiling the fact that I'm living now, in its entirety
Is a blessing

The fact that I'm living now, in its entirety, is a blessing
