Welcome to the new world
From the tummy of such a mighty little girl
For the rest of all my days when I say beautiful, you're beautiful
I'll be always talking about you or your mom, now hey

Welcome to the new world
From the tummy of such a mighty little girl
I can't find a better reason to live for I'm here for...
I'm not gonna say it, no I'll never, I'll just keep it in my arms

I'm not gonna say it, no I'll never, I'll just keep it in my arms

She'll be always mine you better keep that in your mind
Exception will be never made in case of any kind
I kept that oath my very first
But you're the one who broke that first

Listen to me; I'll never say twice, I won't tell you much
So be strong not fist more deeper in you
I'll always love you but second to your mom, of course
I can't give it you

When ever you're in lack of some warmness
Or maybe some time you feel hopeless
There's nothing better to touch
I guarantee you that, little boy

When ever you're in lack of some warmness
Or maybe some time you feel hopeless
There's nothing better to touch
I guarantee you that, little boy

I declare war against my own child
I know I'll be jealous, yea, I can already imagine
What a lucky little boy to be blood-related to you
Least acting like grown-up I lose my patience and cry

Many questions to ask you, my boy, yet to be born
How was your mommy's tummy? I've never been there Must've been beautiful, 10 months and 10 days you travelled
So happy and frustrated cause you know things I don't know

Welcome to the new world
From the tummy of such a mighty little girl
For the rest of all my days when I say beautiful, you're beautiful
I'll be always talking about you or your mom, now hey

Welcome to the new world
From the tummy of such a mighty little girl
I can't find a better reason to live for I'm here for...
I'm not gonna say it, no I'll never, I'll just keep it in my arms

He's my child, he can barely walk
But I can't lose this game, I'll play fair man-to-man

No lullaby nor bedtime story
No fairy tale to read you boy

Let me tell you your mom's story before you came
It's a story that no one else told, it's my story

She shattered things into pieces, stirred up troubles
Made my world twinkle with the blinding light
My days before I met her was a trailer of what to come
Your mom's game plan was to make everything her own

I fell right into it, one day you'll understand
It was luck worth a lifetime packed to the full
At the right time and in the right way
It was used

Welcome to the new world
From the tummy of such a mighty little girl

For the rest of all my days when I say beautiful, you're beautiful
I'll be always talking about you or your mom, now hey
