Since when did I felt embarrassed when every time I fart
Since when did I started hiding tears in public
Since when did I learned how to tell lies to others
Since when did I felt embarrassed when I got naked

All those work I've done to hide them from others, but I'm just gonna be gone from this world at the end

Since when did I started wanting money more than I have Since when I started envying others
Since when did I start hating on some people
Since when did I started wanting stuff that you can't have

All those things that I've seen it and wanted
Would just be a dream, and won't be having them

That is why you shall be having all of those things, as much as you can hold it with both hands
And the quantity of the stuffs that I'm holding right now, is probably me right now

Since when did I felt not sleepy at some nights
Since when did I learned where the start is Since when did I started to change form kid to adult
Since when did I learned that I would be gone from this world

Since when did I got a such a tight memory
Since when did I found something that I can't hide
Since when did I learned I can never be back to "now"
Since when did I learned that there are things that I don't know

All those work that I've done to earn all those things
Will be left and I'll be gone from this world

That is why you shall be having all of those things, more than much as you can hold

And all those things are stuffs that are shaping you into person

And all those things you're holding will the proofs that you existed
