

Something Good

Rae Morris

I get this feeling
I get this very good feeling
Something good's about to happen
Something good's about to happen

It starts with something simple
It starts with something small
It starts with just an impulse
The writing's on the wall

It starts with something honest
It starts with something true
But sometimes something starts
Just when you least expect it to

I get this feeling
I get this very good feeling
Something good's about to happen
Something good's about to happen

I get this feeling
I get this very good feeling
Something good's about to happen
Something good's about to happen

With you
With you

Becoming something different
Becoming something new
Becoming something bigger
That outlives me and you

Becoming something special
Becoming something great
My heart is full with expectation
I can barely wait...

I get this feeling
I get this very good feeling
Something good's about to happen
Something good's about to happen

I get this feeling
I get this very good feeling
Something good's about to happen
Something good's about to happen

With you
With you

When the storm trips the lights
Something big, something bright
When the storm trips the lights
Something big, something bright
