

Freedom

Raef

Under Sahara nights
There was a wise man flying a kite
A young man wandered by and said
"Sir, may I buy insight?"

He said, "The stores have closed
Caravans have left for the night
So put away your urgency, our only currency here is time"

Look to your heart
Lose who you are
Leave all your worries to the stars

Freedom, can somebody lead them to there?
I said Freedom, can somebody lead us to there?

Well, the waves did crash
As the parrots laughed
And the pirates reached the shore

Sir Paul Revere
Ran though city squares crying
"Better lock up your doors!"

As the church bells wept
And the dreamers dreamt
And the ship sailed through the mist

Only Guenevere was still sitting there
As her thoughts began to drift

Look to your heart
Lose who you are
Leave all your worries to the stars

Freedom, can somebody lead them to there?
I said Freedom, can somebody lead us to there?

Freedom, can somebody lead them to there?
I said Freedom, can somebody lead us to there?
