Only our brains still function like they did since the early days of mankind

We are optical beings, what we see is near to us and puts us in alarm modus

We cannot differ that our real, daily life is not so scary as o ur threatened mind makes us believe

There's plenty of people that know about that circumstance And they try to manipulate us by using our fear

So we would do what they want us to do

All those stories that our world is falling down are exaggerate d

Let's talk about some more realistic and more optimistic views on the things

Maybe some can help to inspire you to get some fresh power and bring you up

What more can we all hope for? Let us prosper, let us live A new world rising
