From the fragments of our minds
Grows a web far out in time
Every thought just like a wave
Reaches far beyond our grave

Forever and ever the energy remains
From now through the never, the dust of life that still contain

Is there a meaning for all things?
Or is all coincidence?
Is there swarm intelligence?
Will it bring us competence?

Forever and ever, from thought to word to act
From now through the never, in future worlds a great impact
