

Black Room

Rage

From somewhere far away
You brought it here to stay
Pandora's box, unlocked, disturbed
And while we slept at night
It turned off all the lights
We were completely unprepared

We light a candle in this black room
After they locked our house of pain
There is no window in this black room
And from outside we hear the rain

Now we stay lonely home
We mistrust everyone
And live behind our masks unknown
While madness breaks the rules
To separate the fools
So many of us die alone

We light a candle in this black room
After they locked our house of pain
There is no window in this black room
And from outside we hear the rain

One day the clouds may open up
The sun comes out again
And it's breaking out loud
This is what it's about
Then we know that it's the people
The echoes of ourselves

We light a candle in this black room
After they locked our house of pain
There is no window in this black room
And from outside we hear the rain

We light a candle in this black room
After they locked our house of pain
There is no window in this black room
And from outside we hear the rain
