

Mortal

Rage

Day by day I can see your abuse of life
Can't you tell you are wasting your precious time
Don't you know that fighting and struggling for things will not save your life
There's no need to worry and hurry through the day, it won't make you wise

Blessed are all the peaceful
Their kingdom will be coming for sure
Blessed are all the lovers
This is the healing forevermore

Just remember that you are all mortal
None of you shall survive in this world
Days are counted cause you are all mortal
Use your time, implement what you've learned

Death is sure for what you call identity
But remember that you're made from stardust and this is eternally

Blessed are all the peaceful
Their kingdom will be coming for sure
Blessed are all the lovers
This is the healing forevermore

Just remember that you are all mortal
None of you shall survive in this world
Days are counted cause you are all mortal
Use your time, implement what you've learned

Just remember that you are all mortal
None of you shall survive in this world
Days are counted cause you are all mortal
Use your time, implement what you've learned