

Next Generation

Rage

You believe that we're all falling down
And you say the world will end
We'd be doomed 'cause our yesterday
Killed all water, killed all land

This is your lucky day

You will be the next generation
And no matter what they all say
You're part of the world's population
There's a new dawn, there's a new day

Do you believe that you could change one thing
In the street with glue on hands?
Better use your mind and start to think
And invent tomorrowland

You'll be my hero then

You will be the next generation
And no matter what they all say
You're part of the world's population
There's a new dawn, there's a new day

You will be the next generation
And no matter what they all say
You're part of the world's population
There's a new dawn, there's a new day
You'll stay