

Over and Over

Rage

Once our eyes stare hollow in to nothing our fingers clutching helpless in the void Then our skulls won't tell about our past lifes rich or poor, we're gonna be destroyed

Nothing gonna save us from death, leave it all behind and our gathering, it was all invain

Over and over again
building up castles of sand
Over and over again
all for a kingdom of sand in your hands

Bankers, beggans, soldiers, priests and sinners leadres, losers, all will be the same if you keep your millions on accountings nothinf you will take out from this game

And in your last hideway that's kept far underground you'll share your remains gust with the worms

Over and over again
building up castles of sand
Over and over again
all for a kingdom of sand in your hands