

Toxic Waves

Rage

God! There is a swimming continent inside a swirl
It's made of plastic waste that comes from all the world
It's found inside the dead whale, in the seabird's mouth
Now, homo sapiens, are you proud?

The poisoned sea, where all we know goes down in toxic waves
The cradle of life is all lost inside these toxic waves
We never stopped to dump our waste and overpowered nature's way
s
We disappear without a trace into these toxic waves

Lost - that cormorant that tries to lift from that black mud There's nothing left alive here, now, where is your God?
Who will bring justice for all those we rooted out?
Now, Exxon Mobile, are you proud?

The poisoned sea, where all we know goes down in toxic waves
The cradle of life is all lost inside these toxic waves
We never stopped to dump our waste and overpowered nature's way
s
We disappear without a trace into these toxic waves

The poisoned sea, where all we know goes down in toxic waves
The cradle of life is all lost inside these toxic waves
We never stopped to dump our waste and overpowered nature's way
s
We disappear without a trace into these toxic waves
Into these toxic waves
