

Waterwar

Rage

In that dried out land you see
We live our lives in misery
Shallow cheeks and starving eyes
Our children, victims of our lies

War for water to survive
It became our daily life
In that world that we have made
Without water, without hope
We have minimized our scope
It's the end that we await

Some of us had seen the signs
But the most stayed dumb and blind
Planet Earth, you've changed your face
To an uninhabitable place

War for water to survive
It became our daily life
In that world that we have made
Without water, without hope
We have minimized our scope
It's the end that we await

What have we done?
Merciless sun

War for water to survive
It became our daily life
In that world that we have made
Without water, without hope
We have minimized our scope
It's the end that we await
