

The Right Way

Rag'n'Bone Man

She don't get no peace
She only prays for the silence
It's like a smile on a beast
But the smile is the widest
He's only 3 years old
But he knows what the time is
And the lows will be lows
But the high is the highest

Sure as the sky is blue and grey
Not everything will go your way
And all of the lessons will be learned
When it's your turn

And they're gonna tell you
That you're doing it wrong
But you're going figure it out, figure it out
There's only one thing that I, I know for sure
There's no such thing as the right way
Yeah

There's only so much time
So be strong for your mother
It's going to keep you safe
So be a friend to your brother
If you speak from the heart
You know God loves a trier
And the lows will be lows
And the highs will be higher

Sure as the night turns into day
No need to ever be afraid
And all of our lessons will be learned
When it's your turn

And they're gonna tell you
That you're doing it wrong
But you're going figure it out, figure it out
There's only one thing that I, I know for sure
There's no such thing as the right way

And they're gonna tell you
That you're doing it wrong
But you're going figure it out, figure it out
There's only one thing that I, I know for sure
There's no such thing as the right way
No such thing, no such thing
No such thing, no such thing
No such thing as the right way