Shadow

Raleigh Ritchie

I never ask for easy love
But you didn't need to make it hard for me
You keep it greasy

You underestimate my trust
You think I'm weak, but you are half of me
You complete me

Sometimes I pretend that we're still friends
There must be a line where I begin and you end
Don't wanna fight, just wanna make it right

You don't have control of me, but I will not be your enemy
'Cause you're a shadow, you're a shadow of who I used to be

You hold the fire inside
Oh, you can be so hard to please
You won't keep hurting me

I will not be your sacrifice
I will not feed your energy
You don't deserve me

Sometimes I pretend that we're still friends
There must be a line where I begin and you end
I don't wanna fight, just wanna make it right

You don't have control of me, but I will not be your enemy
'Cause you're a shadow, you're a shadow of who I used to be

Sometimes I pretend, that we're still friends
There must be a line where I begin and you end
Don't wanna fight, I just wanna make it right
