

Too Slow

Random Encounter

I've waited at your doorway, but our moment never came
I've laid awake and wondered what went wrong
I thought I'd try it your way, but it turned out just the same
So now I fear it's time to move along

I'm not waiting any longer
For a change I'm making that starts today
Day by day I'm growing stronger
But one there's just one thing left to say:
Sonic, you're too slow

You had me 'round your finger like a little golden ring
My heart would melt whenever you came near
And though my feelings linger, I don't owe you anything
So let me make this moment crystal clear

I don't have the time for Sonic
So the change I'm making will start today
Isn't it a bit ironic that there's just one thing left to say:
Sonic you're too slow

I made you gourmet dinners
And you made my armpits sweat
I bought you brand-new sneakers
But you haven't worn them yet
I got us matching outfits
And got back an awkward stare
I was VIP of your fan club
And yet you were never there

Time to put it all behind me
For a new adventure will start today
Maybe one day love will find me
But for now I've one thing to say:
Sonic you're too slow
Sonic you're too slow
Sonic you're too slow
Sonic you're too slow
Sonic you're too slow