

Decadence

Random Eyes

You could make a choice my friend
Holding your ground when you start to slide
Never think foolishly
There is something that won't be seen

Walking blindly, doubting
Without understanding

My friend
Take another look for the second time
Stop a moment to realize
Hey you, simple words will never quite express
Think again before you cross the line

Did you ever think it over
Before you made your choice
Tell me, how should I explain?
You'd better think again

Walking blindly, doubting
Without understanding

My friend
Take another look for the second time
Stop a moment to realize
Hey you, simple words will never quite express
Think again before you cross the line

I stand before you
Now make a clear resolve
Today - the day of reckoning
Tell me where you stand

My friend
Take another look for the second time
Stop a moment to realize
Hey you, simple words will never quite express
Think again before you cross the line