Price to Pay

Randy Travis

I wonder how we got like this Your heart wasn't mine to take Mine wasn't mine to give And love wasn't ours to save

I shoulda let you go when I could When the memories Weren't so many or so good And one night was such a small price to pay

A small price to pay When a touch was all it was When the fire was just a candle flame Throwing shadows of us

What I wouldn't give now
For those long gone yesterdays
When one night
Was such a small price to pay

Well I guess we'd better go
Maybe this time for good
But the last time wasn't though
But never again, sure feels good to say

And I think back to the times
When everything I treasured
Wasn't on this fragile mind
And one night was such a small price to pay

A small price to pay When a touch was all it was When the fire was just a candle flame Throwing shadows of us

What I wouldn't give now
For those long gone yesterdays
When one night was such a small price to pay
Back when one night was such a small price to pay
