

No Way

Ratboys

Can it be that this was really all there is?
I was starin' so long at the sun
Till I was blinded
Losin' track of the days, ain't nothin' new
I read every conversation
But, I don't know what's true

Can you help me out?
I'm tryin', but sinkin' in this pit of doubt

I'm stuck, with a belly for a heart
At the bottom of a well
There's no way you'll control me
I'll take a penny for your thoughts
And I'll throw it straight to hell
There's no way you'll control me again
No way you'll control me
No way you'll control me

I know
It feels like a dream we keep havin'
Oh, how I wish it wasn't so
But, I know that
There's no need to explain it now
Everybody lies
Why does that always catch me by surprise?

'Cause I'm stuck, with a belly for a heart
At the bottom of a well
There's no way you'll control me
I'll take a penny for your thoughts
And I'll throw it straight to hell
There's no way you'll control me again

There's no way you'll control me
I'll take your ever-loving thoughts
And I'll throw them straight to hell
There's no way you'll control me again

No way you'll control me again
No way you'll control me again
No way you'll control me again
No way you'll control me again

There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again

There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
There's no way you'll control me again
