

Battles

Ravenscode

Keep your head down low
And fake a smile so they won't ever know
The way you feel inside
And the thoughts you're fighting so hard to hide
You can't sleep at night
'Cause you hear them every time you close your eyes
The voices in your head
That whisper thoughts you wish could be left unsaid

You might think you're on your own
But there's something you should know

I'm fighting battles
Right here on the inside
You might say you've never seen them
'Cause it's something I try to hide
I've got demons
That I just can't seem to kill
Been fighting back for my whole life
But they're with me still
So the lesson is despite what you've been shown
You should know you're not alone

You feel you can't go on
Like every choice you've ever made was wrong
You think it's time to go
But there is something that you should know

You might think you're on your own
But you're not alone

I'm fighting battles
Right here on the inside
You might say you've never seen them
'Cause it's something I try to hide
I've got demons
That I just can't seem to kill
Been fighting back for my whole life
But they're with me still
So the lesson is despite what you've been shown
You should know you're not alone

We're in this fight together
We can face it you and I
'Cause I'll be right here by your side
By your side

I'm fighting battles
Right here on the inside
You might say you've never seen them
'Cause it's something I always thought I needed to hide
Still got demons I can't kill
Been fighting back for my whole life
And I battle still
So the lesson is despite what you've been shown
(You're not alone)
So the lesson is despite what you've been shown

You should know you're not alone
