

Your Words

Ravenscode

Never felt alone
While I'm a part of a crowd
Till the day I found myself here
In a place where joy is never found
And moments feel like years

Days drag on without a change
My soul starts to scream
I search in vain to find an escape
From this neverwaking dream

Your (your) words (words)
Just can't seem to fight this feelings
Your (your) words (words)
Fuck that you should know
This was never how I wanted it to be
Now what I want from this life
I don't see how you could ever look at me
When you know, your words cut like a knife

Watch the way you speaks your words
As if they would made a steal
While your broken hope apart of me
And I like how it feels

Since days have passed where I bit my tongue
And face all people like you
I held my silence long enough
Can ignore it like they do

Your (your) words (words)
Just can't seem to fight this feelings
Your (your) words (words)
Fuck that you should know
This was never how I wanted it to be
Now what I want from this life
I don't see how you could ever look at me
When you know, your words cut like a knife

Days have passed where I bit my tongue
And face all people like you
As world is tight I finally see
What hell I have to do

This was never how I wanted it to be
Not what I want from this life
I don't see how you could ever look at me
When you know, your words cut like a

Your (your) words (words)
Just can't seem to fight this feelings
Your (your) words (words)
Fuck that you should know
This was never how I wanted it to be