

It Takes So Little Time

Ray Charles

It takes so little time
For the wind to erase
Vows written into scorching sand
Our dreams blown away in empty space

It takes so little time
For the day that's still asleep
To hurry the coming dawn
And take you away from me

It takes so little time for anything to change
It takes, it takes so little time, I don't why, but ain't t it strange

It takes so little time
For a smile to disappear
And bring to the cheek of a child
The sadness of a tear

It takes so little time for anything to change
It takes, it takes so little time
I don't why, but ain't it strange

So when the night has come
And you will look at me
I know I 'll be happy
