

Thunder Sound

Rayland Baxter

Simply love
We all have enough to survive
Can't turn us in
Nobody knew we could fly
Simply love
We all have enough to survive

Open the door
Close the door
You done it before
So open the door

I love the sound
I love the feeling of wonder
(The feeling of thunder)
I love the feeling of thunder
The more I get to thinking what it all means

I love the sound
I love the feeling of wonder
I love the feeling of thunder
So far away
In a violent purple sky

Some of 'em pay out
Some of 'em shelf
I see 'em in the mirror
When I'm looking at myself
But when I breathe the heavy air
He come around
I keep 'em all here
At thunder sound

What's an almighty shield
Without the almighty sword
What's an almighty shield
Without the almighty sword

So you know what I want
I wanna brand new feeling
Flower petals in a pile

Set the monkey out to follow
But nobody cares anymore
I see a lot of fading out
Leroy and tiger at the church of life

Know when you hit back you hit hard
Don't mean shit without your counterpart
Golden light, do it again
You woulda been great without it

Get it right, understand, maybe uh, nobody wanted
To get in my, get in my, get in my car
I don't wanna read a book
Why would I read a book
You're telling me, man

The story you tell me is so unbelievable
I'm fucking sick of saving everyone with a handout
No wonder why you're calling me to cover your bailout

(Late, late)
So you know what I want
(Late, late)
I want a brand new feeling
Flower petals in a pile
It feels right

Yeah you know what I want
I want a brand new feeling
Flower petals in a pile
So it feels right
From the other side