

Today

Rebeka

When I was a child
I was smiling wide I used to sing and ride
on the blackest horse in my magic world
I used to play with my dad watching weird cartoons finding groovy loops in strange japanese tunes
It felt so good simply to use my heart
I never thought I was longing oh oh for today
I never thought I'd be singing oh for real these days
I never thought I would need that child oh every day
I never thought I would feel so good and fine today
oh I am a child
living adult life
I know you'll find me kind sometimes I'm a freak and I'm acting weak I do not know what to say!
then I sleep all day
and I sing all night
I'm far away from daylight
I forget to breathe
what I truly need
I do not know what to sing!
