

ANGEL'S SONG

Red Leather

I wrote you a letter
Gave you five hundred reasons to stay
They say it gets better
But it only gets harder each day
I hope that you're happy
With a smile on that beautiful face
Did you get my letter?
'Cause there's something I still gotta say

You saved my life
You were my angel, and you taught me to fly
Sent from above
You were my angel, and you taught me to love

Do you remember when we camped out in Joshua Tree?
If we meet in September
We can catch up on everything
'Cause we went from strangers
To lovers, and now we're just strangers again, oh
Is this forever?
Will we be together in the end?

You saved my life
You were my angel, and you taught me to fly
You were my angel, and you taught me to love

Did you get my letter?
There's some things I never got to say
You were my angel
